

header.htm

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Outlook/microsoft.public.outlook.general/2004-09/1170.html>

---

From: soapy (support\_at\_cyberlane.org)

Date: 09/04/04

Date: Fri, 3 Sep 2004 17:20:06 -0700

Hi:

I just re-formatted my hard drive. After I re-installed Office 2002 with Outlook, people have begun to complain that my emails are including weird header.htm files that are saying they are attachments. If they click on the header file it takes them to a blank web page on the net.

I use Word as my email editor. Remember, this wasn't happening until after I re-installed Outlook. I've always used Word as my email editor and didn't have this problem until now.

here's a shot of what it looks like.

Oh. i tried to paste a pic of it but it won't paste here.

If anyone knows why this is happening I would appreciate you emailing me at support@cyberlane.org. thanks.