

Re: Two PDA calendars synching with outlook?

Re: Two PDA calendars synching with outlook?

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Outlook/microsoft.public.outlook.installation/2007-08/msg00339.html>

---

- From: "Brian Tillman" <tillman1952@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sat, 25 Aug 2007 21:38:58 -0400
-

Missdh1 <Missdh1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

How do I use Activesync on two devices .. sync separate calendars, phone books and tasks, etc?

You can use ActiveSync to keep two PCs completely in agreement. YOU CANNOT sync one set of data on one PC and a separate one on the other. Windows Mobile devices using ActiveSync have exactly ONE set of Contacts, Calendar, etc. If you sync the PDA with the first PC and then sync it with the second, the data will be merged into the second PC so that everything on the first PC will then be on the second.

—
Brian Tillman [MVP-Outlook]