

Re: Convert from IMailItem to IPostItem...

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Outlook/microsoft.public.outlook.program_vba/2005-08/msg00004.html

- From: "Dmitry Streblechenko" <dmitry@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 29 Jul 2005 12:57:59 -0700
-

Post items are never sent, they are posted. If you want the message in the sent state, trap the MAPIFolder.Items.ItemAdd event (where MAPIFolder points to the Sent Items folder). By that time the item is in the sent state and its sender related properties are set.

Dmitry Streblechenko (MVP)
<http://www.dimastr.com/>
OutlookSpy – Outlook, CDO
and MAPI Developer Tool

<vinkal.chudgar@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:1122451129.088836.33180@xx

> HI,
>
> I have created a COM Addin in VC++/ATL.
>
> I am using Outlook 2003.
>
> when user press send button,OnSendMail function gets called.
>
> OnSendMail function look like
>
> OnSendMail(IDispatch* Ctrl,VARIANT_BOOL * CancelDefault)
> {
> CComQIPtr < Outlook::_MailItem > spMail(Ctrl); // works
>
> CComQIPtr < Outlook::_PostItem > post(Ctrl); // not works
>
>
>
> }
>
> I would like to have PostItem Pointer but Outlook addin gives MailItem > Pointer.
>
> I have also tried to convert mailItem Pointer to PostItem but it does > not work.
>

Re: Convert from IMailItem to IPostItem...

> I want to have PostItem Pointer because i want to save mail in sent > state and MailItem Pointer does not provide this as SentOn Property is > readonly.
>
>
>
> Is there any way to achieve it ?
>
> regards,
>
> vinkal
>

.

-
- Next by Date: Re: Reply with attachment macro
 - Next by thread: Re: Reply with attachment macro
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread