Outlook Rich Text Format = Attachment in the body after insertion point.

HTML = Attachment in the message header.

Plain Text = Attachment in a window at the bottom of the message.

Sounds like you are using HTML or Plain Text.

After searching google.groups.com and finding no answer, Numada asked:

| How can I modify Outlook 2003 to display the 'JPG' file attach on the
| preview pane? I am used to working with Outlook 2000 which always
| displays any attachments as a clip towards the right side of the
| preview pane. I cannot figure out how to do that in 2003.

| Can anyone help me out?

|

| Thanks,

|
