I want to do this for an entire organization. Is there an easy way to export all the folder permissions in Outlook on many e-mail clients? For example, a high level executive did not know some of his "confidential" folders were accessible to all employees. Most likely he had reviewer permissions on these folders. I need to find out if other users are inadvertently doing this also. The only tool I can think of is PFDavAdmin. Only problem is the reports are very difficult to organize.

thanks,
