i have the same problem. can send emails, not receive them. my webmail (earthlink) account is receiving all of them, so i know they're being sent. there's no error message whatsoever when i send a test – and the test message shows up on my webmail account, but doesn't download to outlook. what do i do??

Hi I have the same problem to:

Upgraded from Office 2000, to Office 2003 now.

Running Outlook 2003, and I can Send, but not Receive.
Outlook Express is fine (it sends and receiveds)

I have already reinstalled Outlook 2003 two times, and I have checked my installation of ISP – It is O.K. as well.

I DO get an error message as follows:
Task 'Telus – Receiving' reported error (0x8007007E) :
'Unknown Error
0x8007007E'

Any help is appreciated.
Thanks
Clay

Aloha clairus99,

Do you get an error message of any kind?

I have been having the same problem after upgrading to Office (and therefore Outlook 2003) today. Can send okay, can't receive. Checked I have pop3 and smtp server stuff okay, and it is. Password and username okay.

What next?! :o)
