DH, you wrote on Tue, 26 Jun 2007 22:43:43 GMT:

Because Vista does not use "Protected Storage", the passwords in Outlook XP are not remembered. (Good move Bill) Outlook will remember passwords until it is closed. What a pain in the butt.

I suspect that others have addressed this problem. Is there a solution?

No! Only a upgrade to 2003/2007 solves that problem.

Because this is probably a problem for a number of people, I believe that you are wrong. Someone, if not me will find a work around.

MS strikes again. I believe that MS sees this problem as an opportunity to sell. And some wonder why MS is badmouthed! Unbelievable! Only MS would make a product that is incompatible with its own products, so that they can make another billion.
