

Re: IPAQ 4150 PPC2003 and SMC wi fi base

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/PocketPC/microsoft.public.pocketpc.wireless/2004-02/0367.html>

---

From: Helio Diamant – MS–MVP/Mobile Devices (helio\_at\_nospam.pocketpcfreak.com)

Date: 02/16/04

Date: Mon, 16 Feb 2004 16:18:52 +0200

In most cases this happens when there is a wrong WEP key assigned to the IPAQ. Try to remove WEP from the network and connect. After you manage, then reinsert the WEP keys on both the base and the Ipaq.

--

*****

Helio Diamant – MS/MVP, Mobile Devices

Editor-in-chief

<http://www.pocketpcfreak.com>

The Hebrew Pocket PC site

*****

"m0bov" <junk@m0bov.co.uk> wrote in message

news:d865e8f8.0402160236.1bd1bb15@posting.google.com...

> Hi, not had my 4150 (UK) IPAQ very long. Trying to get WI-FI working > on an 11Mb SMC base unit, we also use D-LINK bases as well. Using HP > onboard wifi card.

>

> I have detected the SSID, and tried using it for Internet and Work. It > mainly shows "Available" and only shows connected if I change > something in the WI FI manager like ticking the preferred network box.

>

> The IPAQ is not picking up an IP number, when I try to load messenger > or open a favorite it says no network defined or tries to use my > bluetooth connection with my T68i. I have tried adding a card under > the WORK connection sbut it only lists Bluetooth and Haynes modem. I > have tried the HP guide and when I click on the connection ICON in > TODAY it shows Wireless off with nothing against it.

>

> HELP!

>

> James