Actually, while I had that problem in WM5, it was corrected in WM6, at least for the two IMAP providers I regularly use (AOL and GMail.) I'm not sure you're describing the bug properly, either— when I had it in WM5, the Sent Items weren't "lost"— they just didn't show up on the mobile device.

Then the bug you encountered was different than the one I encountered. No, I wasn't sending the message to the wrong IMAP server, and no, the Sent Items were not visible when I checked in the folder on other clients.
