

Re: Problem installing PS2K3 on a single Win2K3 AD\SQL machine

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Project/microsoft.public.project.pro_and_server/2004-07/0469.html

From: Arno (idont_at_think.so)

Date: 07/14/04

Date: Wed, 14 Jul 2004 14:10:15 +0200

Thanx for the tip. TCP/IP was allready enabled.

But the authentication was Windows only (I thought I said both during the install). Now it is both and the PS install accepts "connect using Windows authentication"

MS walks in mysterious ways :-)

greetz,

Arno

"Gary L. Chefetz (MVP)" <gary.nospam at chefetz.org> wrote in message news:exoUtvYaEHA.2632@TK2MSFTNGP10.phx.gbl...

> Arno:

>

> Your instance of SQL is configured to support Named Pipes transport only.

> You need to configure it to support TCIP. Open Enterprise Manager and Expand > the tree to your server. On the action menu, select properties. On the > General Tab, select Network Configuration button and enable TCP/IP.

>

> --

>

> Gary L. Chefetz, MVP

> "We wrote the book on Project Server

> <http://www.msprojectexperts.com>

>

> -

> "Arno" <idont@think.so> wrote in message

> news:OAW#bQXaEHA.3512@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> > Ha,

> >

> > Maybe I've to ask this in a SQL or Win newsgroup, but I want to start > > here...

> >

> > I've installed Win2K3 with AD on a single machine. After that I installed microsoft.public.project.pro_and_server: Re: Problem installing PS2K3 on a single Win2K3 AD\SQL machine

> SQL
> > Server (2000 sp3) on that same machine. Now when I try to install PS2K3
I > > can't get passed the "enter database server information". If I select
> > "Create a new database", it returns that it requires a mixed mode SQL > > Server. When I switch to SQL Server authentication it replies that it > can't > > find the server.
> > My guess is that it has something to do with security on this AD
machine,
> > but what???
> >
> > I have to do all this on a single machine. It's for testing purpose and we > > don't have an AD domain here, so the sysboys won't like it when I hook up > > this AD machine to the network :-)
> >
> > Regards,
> >
> > Arno
> >
> >
>
>