

Re: Problem with FTP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Publisher/microsoft.public.publisher.webdesign/2004-05/0117.html>

From: David Bartosik – MS MVP (forums_at_davidbartosik.com)

Date: 05/09/04

Date: Sat, 8 May 2004 23:00:18 -0500

Both protocols will upload your site files, but http uses FP extensions on the server (means your server host had to install them), whereas ftp is the default standard method.

I do not see in your site source code that your site is a Publisher made site.

If I am somehow mistaken then post back detailing the exact steps you are taking to upload the site and include at what point the problem occurs and explain the problem, so I can try and spot the problem area.

--

David Bartosik – MS MVP

for Publisher help:

www.davidbartosik.com

enter to win Pub 2003:

www.davidbartosik.com/giveaway.aspx

"Mad" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:46EFF6AC-CCFA-4C42-AEDF-CFAA1C074B9D@microsoft.com...

> David,

>

> I tried to look it up as <http://www.mysite.com>. It still doesn't work.

Here is my url www.moroneycompany.com

>

> What is the different between http and ftp?