Using Publisher 2003, didn't know what embedded objects meant when I said ok. What a mistake! I've had nothing but problems since. Publisher not only changed images to gif from jpeg but duplicated images. Everything is doubled. Even went back, deleted images, and reinsert them – same problem which is not loading images. Then went to webhosting side and uploaded original jpegs to overwrite all previously uploaded. Still not showing images on web. But when I look at published pages before "publishing" to website, all images are there. Please, don't tell me I have to totally rebuild web site in order to get rid of automatic embedding!
