

Re: uploading forms on web pages

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Publisher/microsoft.public.publisher/2005-05/msg01437.html>

- From: Rob Giordano \((Crash Gordon®)\) <webmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 30 May 2005 20:29:06 -0700
-

If you're trying to use FrontPage's process to handle the form, that web does not have FP extensions installed on it. You'll have to find out from the host what process you can use.

"Jeanie" <Jeanie@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
news:845121E2-FBBB-4AC6-A0B2-46A99F796EE8@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> I have created my first form using publisher 2000. When I go to submit the > form, I get the following message:
> <http://fontainebleauhigh.stpsb.org/--WEBBOT-SELF-->.
>
> I am lost. What do I do now? The form is located under the alumni > section--reunion contact information.
>
> Any and all help will be greatly appreciated.
>
>
>
.

- Prev by Date: Re: How do I update a calender?
- Next by Date: HOW DO I WRAP TEXT
- Previous by thread: How do I update a calender?
- Next by thread: Re: uploading forms on web pages
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread