Recently we rolled out to a DSL public network that delivers DHCP and DNS configured from a netScreen 5xp that connects to a DSL router at each individual location.

In doing so I deleted my old site boundaries information to reflect the New DSL subnets and Now most of the Client's under the all systems collection have disappeared. I would like to retrieve this data so that I can remotely connect to the machines in my site of course.

all the discovery methods have not changed. No configuration have been made.

Any help is greatly appreciated.
