

Re: How to install Advanced client on a Domain Controller

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SMS/microsoft.public.sms.admin/2005-09/msg00283.html>

- From: "Burtsev Dmitry" <burtsev@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 14 Sep 2005 13:31:16 +0400
-

You can manually install Advanced Client on domain controllers. Just run client.msi.

For push installation you must configure on General tab
– Enable to push installation to assigned resources – Domain controllers
On Account tab specify account, that has administrative permissions on domain controllers. Usually this is a member of Domain Admins group.

"Steve" <Steve@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:5D4FC0C7-E7F7-4644-BC35-C824E9098228@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> Through policy i gave the push agent local rights on the xp > clients.
> For my servers and do not want to do this through policy's, because of the > different servers we have with different rights.
> Which rights do i have to give the push agent to get it installed on a > domain
> controller, because there are no local groups.
> Do i have to do a manual install??

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: How to install Advanced client on a Domain Controller
 - ◇ From: Steve Thompson
 - Prev by Date: Migrate SMS Secondary site
 - Next by Date: Re: SMS 2003
 - Previous by thread: Migrate SMS Secondary site
 - Next by thread: Re: How to install Advanced client on a Domain Controller
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread