Hey Guys,

I need your insight . After working with our trainers to capture application default settings, I need to make sure the settings are applied to all users that log onto that machine. The job works for the logged-on user when the application is being installed (the settings are being applied to the current user's profile), but subsequent users aren't defaulted with the predefined settings.

How or where can I place these registry settings so that they become part of the machine's default profile. Also, please let me know if I'm on the track.

Thanks
