

SMS Hierarchy

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SMS/microsoft.public.sms.setup/2004-07/0214.html>

From: Steve K. (this)

Date: 07/14/04

Date: Wed, 14 Jul 2004 23:28:04 +0200

Hello,

We are trying to test SMS 2003 Server.

We have installed everything, and in doing so, chose not to extend the active directory schema.

After installation, in the management console under Site Status > Site > Component Status we had a red X that is showing a critical error.

I think this error message tracks back to the SMS Hierarchy Manager which states that it cannot add the site, our site, as an object in Active Directory.

Does anyone know how severe this error message is and whether there is a fix for it? As I said, we are testing this, so on installation I did not want to to extend Active Directory and am under the impression that we can use SMS without extending it.

At this point, I am concerned that it is critical, as it states, and we are going to have trouble testing the software.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Steve K.