Hi all ,
i had problems running the microsoft update sync tool on the site server.

The sync tool didnt seem to run, it kept hanging on waiting (in report for that advertisement) and in cas.log
I went throught ccmexec.log, execmgr.log, cas.log and LocationServices.log.

And in a stupid mood i ran ccmcleaner, and delcert.exe by accident on the siteserver, since i read somewhere that i needed to reinstall the advanced client.

Im only now trying to figure out what the implications are, i now have 2 sms accounts with one being the managementpoint, ds, etc and the new one.

My question is did i totally screw up her or can i still resolve this somehow?

Just uninstall and re-install your management point.

The uninstall might no longer be necessary as ccmclean might have taken care of that, depending on the ccmclean switches you used.

To ease the stress, no real disaster should have come from this.
