

Re: Is WINS needed for a Win2K3 / SQL Server 2000 Cluster?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.clustering/2006-05/msg00087.html>

- From: "Russ Kaufmann [MVP]" <russ@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 23 May 2006 11:52:02 -0600
-

"Greg Bradshaw II" <GregBradshawII@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:C646F7B8-A232-43A3-8FF6-D3454EFE438D@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Okay. Now with the Virtual SQL instances being in DNS (forward and reverse lookup), why would the instances not be failing over properly if WINS is not required? What am I missing?

Do you have the Windows Firewall installed on any of your network interfaces?

--

Russ Kaufmann
MVP – Windows Server – Clustering
ClusterHelp.com, a Microsoft Certified Gold Partner
Web <http://www.clusterhelp.com>
Blog <http://msmvps.com/clusterhelp>

.