

Re: Windows Authentication

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.connect/2004-12/0184.html>

From: Scott Morris (bogus_at_bogus.com)

Date: 12/23/04

Date: Thu, 23 Dec 2004 10:36:44 -0500

Windows authentication requires a network with a domain controller. You might want to give the section titled Authentication Modes in BOL a look.

"DrBob" <DrBob@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:9C1D4FCE-3AF1-45B6-8242-C830C7B9CE65@microsoft.com...
> When using windows authentication mode should should the connection work if > the server and client are logged on to windows using "this computer", or must > they log on to windows using a domain account – i can't seem to connect using > windows authentication, only with a sql account