Hi Mike,

This is Mark, a SQL Server Engineer. I'm glad to assist you with the issue.

Regarding to the description, I know that you encountered error when created Linked Server to connect ADAM (Active Directory Application Mode) from SQL 2005. and based on the current situation, the issue might be very complex.

Based on my experience, I would like you help me collect the following information. my email address is v-fathan@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx(remove online). Once receiving your email, I would like to create a workspace for you so that you are able to upload the required files via that workspace.

1. Could you please tell me when the errors occurred? What related symptoms have you observed when the issue occurs? Do you use any cluster server? Since the web log you submitted about the error message has some garbage codes, could you please paste the text or screen shot in the email again? I appreciate your provided more details about the issue.

2. Also collect the SQL Server Error logs and the Agent logs along with the Application , Security and the System Event logs saved in an EVT format, zip and send me.

3. Could you please provide more info about the ADAM you want to connect? Could you please create some screen shots about your detailed setting about SQL Server 2000 and 2005, so that we can repro the issue on my side and move forward a quick solution.

If anything is unclear, please tell me. Thanks
