

Re: Data Load

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.datamining/2004-04/0051.html>

---

From: oj (nospam_ojngo_at_home.com)

Date: 04/13/04

Date: Tue, 13 Apr 2004 10:52:23 -0700

If each job has to do a look in the target table, it's probably not a good thing to process them in parallel. Perhaps, you want to load the data independently into a staging table for each of your jobs. Then do a final push/pull of all staging tables.

--

-oj

<http://www.rac4sql.net>

"MS User" <sqlman@sql.com> wrote in message
news:OdhPaWXIEHA.4052@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> SQL 2K

>

> We have a data-warehouse server which loads data from different databases > which resides in a different server, perform business logic and load into a

> FACT table.

> I created 4 SQL jobs which does the above same thing from different > databases and writing to same table.

> This job is scheduled to run at the same time.

>

> My question

> 1) What all steps to consider ,since different jobs loading data to same > table and also query same table.

>

> Thanks

> Sh

>

>