

Re: IIS Logs Max Per Hour

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.mseq/2004-10/0021.html>

From: nemb (nemb.1dtcel_at_mail.mcse.ms)

Date: 10/08/04

Date: Fri, 8 Oct 2004 08:33:37 -0500

Simon Jelinek wrote:

> Hi*
>
> Being very new to SQL so iam hoping that this will be > easy.
>
> Using a dts package to transfer IIS logs into a SQL > database i would now like to knpw of there is any > resource that gives some idea on the best stats to take > from IIS Logs.
>
> i have create a query that is a count of [c-ip] i would > like to find out what is the max hourly count of [c-ip] > grouped by day the data is very mixed as when log a is > recorded could be 3 a second or not one for a few > *seconds ? but generally data is at per second level? **

Try asking your manager, I hear he is very good at this sort of thing

--
nemb

Posted via <http://www.mcse.ms>

View this thread: <http://www.mcse.ms/message994945.html>