In my country almost all programmers read "varchar", "char" etc as "vartschar" ("ch" is pronounced like in "chair").

As I suppose "varchar" comes from "variable character" and so that it should be pronounced "varkar".

How do you pronounce this and similar words?

Please note if you are native english speaker or not.

There are a lot of words pronounced very differently for example "Delphi", ([delfee], [delfay]), "Chi-Writer" (do you remember?), etc

Miroo
