

RE: sql vs excel

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.programming/2005-02/5264.html>

From: Mike Epprecht (SQL MVP) (mike_at_epprecht.net)

Date: 02/22/05

Date: Tue, 22 Feb 2005 01:49:08 -0800

Sorry, post the wrong thread....

"Mike Epprecht (SQL MVP)" wrote:

> Hi

>

> You can create a DTS package in SQL server and then have MSDE run it. MSDE has the runtime for DTS.

>

> Regards

> Mike

>

> "Nikolami" wrote:

>

>> Does anyone know solution for this:

>> if I insert recordset into database, depends on datetime, other record will be change value.

>> Something like this:

>> If I insert new record with datetime other record will change value and the same is when I update some record.

>>

>> 1;Nik;02.19.2005;1000;50

>> 5;Nik5;02.20.2005;1050;10 //insert new record, rest record

>> will change value

>> 2;Nik2;02.21.2005;1050;30 //2;Nik2;02.21.2005;1060;30

>> 3;Nik3;02.21.2005;1080;10 //3;Nik3;02.21.2005;1090;10

>> 4;Nik4;02.22.2005;1090;10 //4;Nik4;02.22.2005;2000;10

>>

>>

>>