

Re: Can't replicate between two servers

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.replication/2005-02/0792.html>

---

From: Eng. Taha Khamis A.Wahab (taha_at_delta-group.org)

Date: 02/22/05

Date: Tue, 22 Feb 2005 06:23:03 +0200

yes i check to ports in the firewall and it's all opened

"Joe Yong" <jyongNOSPAM@scalabilityexperts.com> wrote in message news:eaqo0UwFFHA.2296@TK2MSFTNGP15.phx.gbl...

> Can you connect using Query Analyzer or Enterprise Manager? Ping only tells > you there's network connectivity. You need to ensure you have the > appropriate permissions to access SQL Server and of course, the ports must > be open since you're likely to have some kinda firewall/gateway in between.

>

>

> joe.

>

>

> "Eng. Taha Khamis A.Wahab" <taha@delta-group.org> wrote in message

> news:OrH25%23qFFHA.1260@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> > Hello Guys

> > i have a big problem between my company's two branches

> > the problem in brief is

> > we have two sites in two cities

> > and of course two SQL servers in the two sites

> > so we have a dbase application but when we try to get the updated records

> > from one site to another we got this error messege

> > "SQL server is not exist or access denied "

> > but the replication application connected to both servers and we can ping

> > eachother

> > any help will be appreciated

> > thanks

> > P.S: please send a copy on my e-mail taha@delta-group.org

> >

> >

>

>