Try scripting them in Enterprise Manager. It is pretty straight forward.

Is .NET important for a database professional?

Does anyone know if its possible to get hold of all my stored procedures and somehow output them all to a text file for printing.

I have quite a lot now and I need to be able to set them all up as a batch on other servers. Unfortunately I don't have them in one file

Any help would be greatfully received

Kindest Regards

Simon
