

Re: SQL connect error

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SQL-Server/microsoft.public.sqlserver.setup/2005-11/msg00021.html>

- From: "Andrew Watt [MVP – InfoPath]" <SVGDeveloper@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 01 Nov 2005 16:19:29 +0000
-

Hi,

If you are using September CTP, run the SQL Server Configuration Manager and check which network protocols are running. TCP/IP and Named Pipes is turned off by default on some editions in that CTP.

If TCP/IP is off then I would expect that you would find it difficult to connect from the Web.

If that doesn't prove to be the problem please post further details of your setup.

Andrew Watt
MVP – InfoPath

On Mon, 31 Oct 2005 11:58:26 -0800, "carlomd"
<carlomd@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

>Hi all I've searched and couldn't find anything related to my issue, so I >started a new post, I'm new to SQL and I installed the CTP for SQL 2005, I >get this error when I connect off the web, it tests fine off of the ODBC >admin, so I figured my account settings are correct, anyone can point me the >direction would be great. thanks in advanced –
>Microsoft OLE DB Provider for ODBC Drivers error '80040e4d'
>
>[Microsoft][ODBC SQL Server Driver][SQL Server]Login failed for user 'mitch'.
>
>/ConnOpen.inc, line 10

-
- Prev by Date: Re: Moving databases from sql 7.0 server to a sql 2000 server
 - Next by Date: Re: SQL Express 2005 setup fails on VS2005 Final Release
 - Previous by thread: Re: Moving databases from sql 7.0 server to a sql 2000 server
 - Next by thread: Re: SQL Express 2005 setup fails on VS2005 Final Release
 - Index(es):

Re: SQL connect error

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread