Peter,

Thank you for your reply.

Since I wanted to install it for the purpose of connecting to another instance through TCP/IP then I will want to uninstall SQL Server 2005 first before installing SQLS2000

I have a few question, but first a couple of facts:
My OS is Windows XP Pro 32-bit (SP3)
SQL Server 2005 is (SP2)
This system is set up for development purposes only.

How to uninstall?
SQL Server 2005 installs a lot of stuff and I am not exactly sure what I need to uninstall.

Do I have to tediously uninstall each component or is there a way to uninstall everyting I need to thorough the installation disk?

If not below is a list of related installed components on this machine. (you will see I have Visual Studio 2005 also installed). What do you suggest I need to uninstall? before installing SQL Server 2000.

[o] Indicates what I think can stay.
