

Re: JScript site problem

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Scripting/microsoft.public.scripting.jscript/2004-03/0354.html>

---

From: Brian Genisio (BrianGenisio_at_yahoo.com)

Date: 03/17/04

Date: Wed, 17 Mar 2004 15:35:02 -0500

Rax wrote:

- > No I open the browser and do the settings (although it is already enabled so
- > I tried to disable then re-enable) then close it and re-open the browser and
- > reload the page.
- >
- > I am using SP1
- >
- > Thanks,

Right... I am saying that you need to navigate to the page, and check the settings. Different zones have different security settings. If it is set, you do not need to unset it, and reset it... but I have no other ideas for you. If this does not fix your problem, you need to ask on an IE newsgroup, because this is not a Javascript issue... it is a browser issue.

Brian