

Re: Best Way to access Input fields

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Scripting/microsoft.public.scripting.jscript/2006-01/msg00260.html>

- From: "Dave Anderson" <GTSPXOESSGOO@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 21 Jan 2006 14:20:02 -0600
-

I wrote:

- > In such a case, `formElement.getElementsByName()` fulfills
- > his requirement, and does so whether those elements have
- > names or not.

That came out rather funny, didn't it? Just as I claimed your assertion was irrelevant, so I will declare my last clause irrelevant. It is plainly a vacuous truth.

—

Dave Anderson

Unsolicited commercial email will be read at a cost of $500 per message. Use of this email address implies consent to these terms. Please do not contact me directly or ask me to contact you directly for assistance. If your question is worth asking, it's worth posting.

• References:

- ◆ Re: Best Way to access Input fields
 - ◇ From: Dave Anderson
- ◆ Re: Best Way to access Input fields
 - ◇ From: Randy Webb
- ◆ Re: Best Way to access Input fields
 - ◇ From: Dave Anderson
- Prev by Date: Re: Best Way to access Input fields
- Next by Date: Re: Using XMLHttpRequest in Firefox
- Previous by thread: Re: Best Way to access Input fields
- Next by thread: Re: Best Way to access Input fields
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread