Yes, it's possible with regexp.

It is also possible, using the plain 'ole split function
— and maybe a little more transparent.

Im an intern at a software company, and I think I'm way over my head.
I need a script that can read and parse a text file (easy part, that I know)
but I need my script to extract text between two delimiters that i can specify.

is it possible to do this with regular expressions?

thanks in advance
