

Re: How to "release" a Web part connection filter by code

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/SharePoint/microsoft.public.sharepoint.windowsservices/2004-02/0392.html>

From: Siegfried Weber (siegfriedcw_at_notmail.com)

Date: 02/07/04

Date: Sat, 7 Feb 2004 23:27:13 +0100

I really need some help here. Do explain my problem better I've whipped up a quick sample site at:

<http://playground.doesntexist.org/>

As you can see on the site once you clicked on a category and select an item from the archive Web Part both Web Part connections will be applied.

I'm looking for a way to keep them separate. Any ideas? Please!

Siegfried Weber wrote:

- >
- > I hope the subject isn't too confusing ;-)
- >
- > Problem:
- >
- > Simple WSS Team Site.
- >
- > Added two custom lists "Blog" and "Categories". "Blog" has a lookup
- > field named "Categories" to the "Title" field of "Categories". Three
- > Web Parts (all FP Data Views) added on the main page, one is the
- > "Blog" list, one is the "Categories" list and one is named "Grouped
- > by Creation Date" pointing to the "Blog" list too. So basically both
- > Web Parts (WP), "Blog" and "Grouped by Creation Date", are using
- > the same list but with different views. On all WPs is the option to
- > *"Send first row to connected Web Parts when page loads" turned OFF.*
- >
- > Then I've created WP connections.
- >
- > First one goes from the "Categories" lookup field on "Blog" to the
- > "Title" field on "Categories" to allow filtering "Blog" and display a
- > set of list items which are in a specific category.
- >
- > That one works without a problem.
- >

microsoft.public.sharepoint.windowsservices: Re: How to "release" a Web part connection filter by code

- > Second WP connection goes from "Grouped by Creation Date" to "Blog".
- > Desired result is to have a grouped by creation date view at "Grouped
- > by Creation Date" Web Part which then allows to select an item and
- > it is then displayed via a filter in "Blog".
- >
- > That one works without a problem, too.
- >
- > BUT!! As soon as I use both in a combination I am running into
- > problems. Now when I click on a category, say "Misc", the connection
- > filter fires and the selected category (conditional formatting
- > confirms that) is used to display the appropriate items in "Blog".
- > However, when I now click on a row in the "Grouped by Creation Date"
- > WP the second WP connection fires and applies the second filter
- > without releasing the first one. That means the filters are applied
- > AND'd and not OR'd.
- >
- > I know this might sound confusing, so please bear with me that I've
- > attached a compressed image of the site to give anybody a clue. I've
- > compressed it as much as possible to reduce space.
- >
- > My problem is now that I want to have both WP connection filters work
- > *independently. Basically, when I click on a category I want only the*
- > category applied and when I click on a grouped by creation date WP
- > *item I want only that one applied. Right now, they*
- >
- > I've been struggling with this yesterday for a couple of hours
- > without just getting further. I'd be glad if somebody could shed some
- > light into how to accomplish that without breaking things into
- > several pages (it is supposed to be a single page site).
- >
- > TIA!