

Re: load data from Access to SQL

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.database.ado/2004-09/0012.html>

From: Paul Clement (UseAddressAtEndofMessage_at_swspectrum.com)

Date: 08/31/04

Date: Tue, 31 Aug 2004 12:43:03 -0500

On Mon, 30 Aug 2004 16:18:38 -0700, "Andre" <no@spam.com> wrote:

- ✘ I'm writing a VB6 app to load data from Access97 to SQL2k. I've
- ✘ successfully written code to connect to both datasources but am unsure on
- ✘ how to proceed from here. What's the best way to load an Access table to
- ✘ SQL? Do I get the Access data into a rs then load it to sql? If so, how?
- ✘ :)
- ✘
- ✘ Any examples would be greatly appreciated.

The easiest method would be to create an Access linked table to the SQL Server database table and then just use a SQL SELECT * INTO statement.

Paul ~~~ pclement@ameritech.net
Microsoft MVP (Visual Basic)