

Re: Optional Output parameters in MS SQL Server.

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.database/2004-02/0076.html>

From: ambshah (ambshah_at_hotmale.not4spam)

Date: 02/16/04

Date: Mon, 16 Feb 2004 22:51:01 +0530

btw.

just add default to the parameters

eg abc varchar(10) = " will result in the parameter becoming optional.

like in vb you cant ignore the parameter and supply value for the next one

..

hth any other user hoping for an answer

"Rekhender Dhawan" <rekhender@softhome.net> wrote in message news:eOAmgl#5DHA.1816@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

> Dear All,

>

> I have actually ported an application from Interbase DB to MS Sql Server.

> But now the SP written in it needs to have optional output parameters, any > idea how can i do this? The SP are ready and working, but need to make then > optional, other wise i need to change lot of source unnecessaarly.

>

> Thanks in advance

> Rekhender

>

>