

Re: Right-click and File menu options

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.general.discussion/2005-06/msg01235.html>

- From: "Jim Edgar" <djedgar<removethis>@cox.net>
 - Date: Tue, 14 Jun 2005 13:56:38 -0700
-

"Howard Kaikow" <kaikow@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:ewc2FKScFHA.584@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

> I've got 4 installations of VB 6 Enterprise.

>

> Today, I noticed that one of the installations does not provide a "Remove" > item when I right-click on a component in the Project Explorer Window. The > other 3 installations do provide a Remove option.

>

> I also noticed that sometimes the Save and/or Save As options appear in the > right-click menu, as well as the File menu, but not always.

>

> From where can I control the settings that make these items appear?

>

> --

> <http://www.standards.com/>; See Howard Kaikow's web site.

>

>

You can try this. Right click anywhere on an existing toolbar and select Customize from the pop-up menu. When the Customize form shows place a check next to the Short-cut list item and a new window will appear that you can drag and drop menu items onto. I'm sure you'll be able to figure out how to customize the different menus.

HTH,

Jim Edgar

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Right-click and File menu options
◇ From: Howard Kaikow

Re: Right-click and File menu options

- References:

- ◆ Right-click and File menu options

- ◇ From: Howard Kaikow

- Prev by Date: Re: Third Party Software

- Next by Date: Re: Third Party Software

- Previous by thread: Right-click and File menu options

- Next by thread: Re: Right-click and File menu options

- Index(es):

- ◆ Date

- ◆ Thread