

Re: VB Source code in 98 vs. XP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.general.discussion/2005-11/msg00797.html>

- From: "Dave" <nobody@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 15 Nov 2005 10:03:13 -0000
-

> im not sure about the SP version of VB6 for 98. I know it in XP coz i > installed it thr.

> Plz refer following lines as u said from .vbp
> Also plz note: Both my OS are installed on same PC. Win-98 on C: and > Win-XP
> on E:

I'll bet this is the cause of your problem, you have never installed VB to '98.

Under '98 install all of VB to the same location and apply the same service pack as you have in XP, this will ensure that they both have the same system files to work with.

Best Regards
Dave O.

• References:

- ◆ Re: VB Source code in 98 vs. XP
 ◇ From: Amit Mohod
- Prev by Date: Re: Run VB6 .exe on server from a remote machine on same network; db is SQL Server 2000
- Next by Date: Re: Hide Reader window when printing from command line
- Previous by thread: Re: VB Source code in 98 vs. XP
- Next by thread: Re: VB Source code in 98 vs. XP
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread