I disagree. There are some good features in XP and win2k is Sloooooow. I booted a w2k machine up the other day and was reminded just how amazingly slow it was.

I definitely find 2K faster on the same hardware. Easy enough to time, using Virtual PC.

Try it on a real PC.

Life's too short. Anecdotally, when I wipe a 2K box, and install XP, it seems slower. I'll have to try it the other way around, someday, just to self-validate.
