

Re: vb6 -v- Net!

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.general.discussion/2007-03/msg01994.html>

- From: "Robert Morley" <rmorley@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 22 Mar 2007 13:47:47 -0400
-

That's probably why he called them "significant". :)

Rob

"MikeD" <nobody@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:%230Bb3mKbHHA.4656@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

"Paul Clement" <UseAddressAtEndofMessage@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:mre503h4t8ni0cd2q4hep0tj0b6kdj49i9@xxxxxxxx>

On Thu, 22 Mar 2007 04:59:40 +1100, "Aalaan" <veryinvalid@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
wrote:

I still work in both environments and the only significant disadvantages
I've encountered with Visual Basic.NET are:

- 1) Learning the Framework and new language features (which of course can be overcome)
- 2) Desktop apps on average are not as fast
- 3) Distribution of the .NET Framework

Those are 3 pretty big disadvantages, don't you think?

--
Mike
Microsoft Visual Basic MVP