

Re: how do people feel about exit function from loop

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VB/microsoft.public.vb.general.discussion/2007-07/msg03047.html>

- From: "Robert Morley" <rmorley@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 31 Jul 2007 12:01:29 -0400
-

We've both made our points and responded to each others' points ad nauseum. If you've failed to pick up on that fact, there's nothing more I can do. At this point, I have to believe you're trolling, particularly in light of your attempts to bait me back into a discussion. This thread is now on "Ignore", so further posts to this thread, at least for me, will go unresponded to.

Rob

"Michael C" <nospam@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:u3vC1K00HHA.5152@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

"Jim Carlock" <anonymous@localhost> wrote in message
news:%23W88VC00HHA.5740@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Who cares? Big deal! What's your point?

My point is that Robert wouldn't be doing what he is doing (avoiding the issue) if he didn't at least partially agree with me and see I had a point. If he really did believe he was right, as he kept saying, he wouldn't refuse to the discuss the issue and then run off.

Michael