

Make assign illegal for class

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VC/microsoft.public.vc.language/2005-08/msg00696.html>

- From: "Mark Randall" <markyr@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 20 Aug 2005 21:05:20 +0100
-

Hi,

Is there any way to explicitly make = or copy construction illegal for a given class? I have several that are most complex and will at no point ever need to be copied.

For integrity purposes, is there any way to disable the copy all together and generate a warning? (I was thinking of having a home made copy constructor but I have no idea about generating a compile error inside it).

--
– Mark Randall
<http://zetech.swehli.com>

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Make assign illegal for class
 - ◇ From: Stu Smith
 - ◆ Re: Make assign illegal for class
 - ◇ From: Alex Blekhman
 - ◆ Re: Make assign illegal for class
 - ◇ From: Doug Harrison [MVP]
 - Prev by Date: Re: std::vector<CString> to LPCTSTR ****
 - Next by Date: Re: Make assign illegal for class
 - Previous by thread: std::vector<CString> to LPCTSTR ****
 - Next by thread: Re: Make assign illegal for class
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread