

Re: Managing several internet connection via modem

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VC/microsoft.public.vc.language/2005-09/msg00167.html>

- From: "William DePalo [MVP VC++]" <wildd.no.spam@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 5 Sep 2005 20:32:46 -0400
-

"vic" <vic@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:AD115EF8-B68D-4B6A-A33A-A6854114178A@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> I use RasDial() function to do the dial Up but my problem is I can not > find > the relation between the InternetDial and the InternetOpen/InternetConnect > for specifying the network connection..., that is, the connection ID to use > for making the FTP or HTTP service.

RasDial() and InternetDial() take the same "connectoid name" (dial up connection name) to make the call to the remote modem.

InternetOpen() returns a handle and it is that handle that is passed as the first parameter to InternetConnect().

Regards,
Will

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Managing several internet connection via modem
◇ From: vic
 - References:
 - ◆ Managing several internet connection via modem
◇ From: vic
 - Prev by Date: Re: URLDownloadToFile
 - Next by Date: Re: MsgWaitForMultipleObjects
 - Previous by thread: Managing several internet connection via modem
 - Next by thread: Re: Managing several internet connection via modem
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread