

typedef for structs

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/VC/microsoft.public.vc.language/2007-11/msg00065.html>

- From: goodTweeTieBird <goodTweeTieBird@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 04 Nov 2007 16:01:05 -0800
-

I have seen typedef used with structs and wondered why since one could use tags. Is there any benefit other than it just a shorter way to declare a new copy?

thanks,

gtb

.