When I try to use the ASP.net configuration button in VS2005 – I get an error about not being able to find FireFox.exe. At the time I installed VS, FireFox was my default browser. Since then, I have uninstalled FireFox and IE is my default browser. I still get the error. OK, so I uninstalled VS2005 – then re-installed it – thinking that this setting might get established at install time. I still get the error. My next step – was to remove registry settings that referenced the FireFox.exe... I still get the error. Any insight on what to try next would be appreciated as I need to run the ASP.net configuration.
