I have a very general question I'm hoping someone might be able to make a suggestion on. I have been asked to "Document" a set of servers (2003 AD Domain controllers and an Exchange Server 2003 cluster). I am wondering if there is anybody out there who either has or knows of a template or set of templates that would assure that I covered all aspects of the server builds and AD that was done. I have seen some binders others have used in the past to document major configuration options, usernames password, AD structure, things like that.

Thank you in advance anyone for your help.
