Oh well...

Question: If you enable Auditing on a folder, does the Auditing also get enabled for all sub-folders contained by that folder?

Thanks.

Hello NewMan,

Only if you have enabled Auditing on the folder where the files are located. Auditing you can enable on the folder with the security>advanced>auditing tab.

I have a Win2000 Server running Active DIrectory. I have a situation where I KNOW that some files were deleted. I cannot prove if they were deleted by accident or maliciously, but I have my suspiciions. I CAN narrow the possibilities because the files were in a Security Restricted area. So.....

Is there any logs, etc, that can tell me explicitly which AD User deleted a specific file?

Thanks in advance.
