I've been doing some searching and think I know how to fix it the next time I have access to that machine. It sort of goes like Start/Settings/Control_Panel/User&Password click on properties and check password never expires... or if that does not work click Start/Help as suggested by some MVP type.

I find it strange that an "Admin" password can be set to expire in XX days and even if you change it, it will just reset the number of days.
