Hi all,

My administrative account is the only one assigned admin privileges, but now each time i try & use them, I get "you don't have sufficient security privileges" this is on the server – add / remove hotfixes/ programs etc & also all our XP clients, which means I can't windows update, system restore etc. I've made my own account a member of the admins group but still no privileges granted. I've googled & all I can find is Kb 313222 – reset security settings back to default. Again i can't do this as I can't backup the system state of each machine! The last time I used the admin privilege was May update when I did all critical updates on the XP boxes and Server PLUS I upgraded ie on the server from 5.5 to 6. could this be the problem? trouble is, I can't remove the hotfix. Any suggestions / help would be appreciated.

TIA
Gary
