Win98SE has scanreg/restore, XP has restore points... what is it called in 2000pro? How do you turn back time in 2000 if something buggers up?

I really have some problems in the boy's 98se install and would like to upgrade it to a 2000pro that I got forever ago and never put on it, but... what if he screws it up (he's about to turn 12)? What if I put one of his apps on it and it doesn't agree with something? Is there some sort of magic fix for the basic stuff? I absolutely hate doing formats and reinstalling all that stuff and, frankly do not have time for it... I'm also not spending 90beans on putting XP on each and every machine in this house (there has to be some family friendly alternative).

How do I restore 2000?
