Because of a corrupt Win2000 registry, I had to install a new Win2000 on a different partition/hard drive. But I still have my original Firefox on the first partition, and now I've downloaded and installed the latest Firefox on the new Win2000 partition. But when I try the Import function, to get all my Favorites/Bookmarks from the original Firefox, I'm only given the choice of importing from Internet Explorer. I know that Firefox can usually import from other Mozilla/Firefox installations, so what could be wrong here. Does anyone know the solution?
